A limited number of travel and conference fee waiver awards are available for university students.

Support for Australian and New Zealand students

The Australian Institute of Nuclear Science and Engineering (AINSE), has generously offered approximately ten student travel awards to cover flight costs (in full or in part) for travel to the AEIC 2015 conference (economy flights only - not fully flexible flights). Note that only students from Australian and New Zealand universities which are institutional members of AINSE are eligible [see the list here]. To be considered for a travel award, please email Geraldine Jacobsen (geraldine.jacobsen@ansto.gov.au) with an expression of interest using this form, by 27th March 2015.

Other awards for students

- Conference fee waivers

  We are offering at least four conference fee waiver awards for university students ($250AUD).

- Outstanding student presentation awards

  We will be awarding a number of prizes for outstanding student presentations (oral and poster) to recognise undergraduate, Master’s and PhD students for quality research in environmental isotope applications. Student first authors give oral presentations or remain by their poster during a session in order to explain their research to passers-by. A number of anonymous judges will be assessing all students’ first author oral and poster presentations. Students should be prepared to give the same high-quality explanation to all those who inquire about their research.

To be eligible for one of these awards, please ensure that you have indicated on your abstract submission that it is a student presentation.
